Thought for the Week

"Life is short. There is no time to leave important words unsaid." - Paulo Coelho, Brazilian novelist

BAPTISED AND SENT

Our Holy Father has announced a special effort during this month of October and encourages us to be alert to the call of Mission. This event in October marks the centenary of a document issued by Pope Benedict the 15th in 1919 following the end of The First World War. At that time there was widespread scepticism about Christianity which had not prevented Christians from slaughtering one another.

The Pope at the time wished missionary groups to work together and to train the local leaders who could better proclaim the Christian message in ways that appeal to people of their own culture.

Our Holy Father Pope Francis has called for a renewed commitment to the Church's "Mission to the Nations" which can engender fresh inspiration and enthusiasm for the pastoral care of the faithful and new evangelisation in mission countries. The motto for this month of October is Baptised and Sent which is a reminder that every member of the Church is called to share in the mission of Jesus Christ.

I am writing this on the first day of October, the feast of St. Teresa of the Child Jesus, Patroness of the Missions. St. Teresa never left the Carmelite Convent in Lisieux but through her prayer and correspondence she supported many Missionaries and it is a message to all of us telling us that even though we are home in Ireland we can be Missionaries in our own way. Perhaps we could reflect in our own lives how we can be more supportive of the mission as Baptised people helping to spread the Good News of Jesus Christ.

Let us pray especially this month for our Irish Missionaries working in many lands and sometimes in difficult situations. They need our support and our care. I wish to acknowledge an article in a recent edition of The Far East in helping to put this piece together for the newsletter.
